Senator Voorhees After the Secretary of the Treasury.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—O'Donnell of Michigan, at the request of the Seventh Day Adventists of the United States, presented a petition bearing 253,000 names, protesting against the passage of any bill regarding the observance of the Sabbath. Referred.

A favorable report has been ordered by the House Committee on Public Lands on the Senate bill to establish two additional land districts in Washington.

Voorhees offered a preamble and concurrent resolution reciting that in the recent lease of the fur seal islands of Alaska to the North American Commercial Company certain provisions of law were not complied with, and directing the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish the Senate complete copies of all bids for the lease, with all accompanying papers, all testimony, arguments, memoranda, letters and correspondence with the holders; that the Secretary refrain from executing or delivering any lease to the North American Commercial Company until the subject be inquired into by the Senate. He asked to have the resolution referred to the Finance Committee, as that committee meets to-morrow.

S. O. R. D.

The bill fixing the salaries of the Judges of the United States District Courts at $5,000 per annum was taken up and after discussion was passed, 33 to 13.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the Blair educational bill, and was addressed by Spooner in opposition to the bill.

A Successful Trip.

By Associated Press.

PEACH SPRINGS, ARIZ., Mar. 3.—

Chief Engineer Slaton and his party of railroad surveyors reached the mouth of Diamond creek, 25 miles below this place, on March 1. Everyone in the party is perfectly well, not having had any serious accident of any kind since that to Photographer Nims on January 1.

The trip through the Grand canyon of the Colorado has been one of much danger and excitement, but has been so far successful in every way.

One boat was lost, while letting it down a fall, but no one was in it.

After that the chief boatman in charge of the fleet deserted the party. In running one rapid Mr. Hislop was thrown out of a boat, but a life preserver kept him afloat until he was picked up further down. A sudden rise in the river last week, of 10 feet, made a two days' ride through the narrowest and crookedest part of the canyon wild, exciting and perilous.

Everyone, however, came through without a scratch. The party will be here for a few days to get a new supply before going further.

A Heistful Night.

LONDON, Mar. 3.—Master Lincoln

passed a restless night—no improvement.

LATER—Master Lincoln passed a bad day and is in an extremely critical condition.

An Advance Step.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Dispatches

from Peking, China, announce that

Viceroy Li Hung Chang has formulated

a project which will mark a new era in the Chinese commercial world. He has decided to establish a system of silver coinage which shall be uniform throughout the empire. The project is favorably viewed by the Prime Minister, Prince Chun, and has been submitted to the Emperor by a memorial and is being urged by the Viceroy,

Prime Minister and most of the influential and progressive men.

A reporter called at the Chinese legation to inquire about the matter and was informed by Hoshen Chee, who is the interpreter, that this question has long been under consideration and was a pet scheme of Li Hung Chang.

"Hoshen Chee," he said, "we had only a copper currency, ranging in value from a mill to about a cent. The Government never issued paper currency this privilege being entirely in the hands of private banking houses. Of gold and silver coin of our own, we had none but gold leaf and bars of gold as well as lumps of silver, which have been in use as measures of value, and when a merchant or trader desired money he could deposit them with private banking houses as collateral and get the notes of the banking houses to use in his business. At the seaports the English shilling, Mexican dollar and Japanese yen come into general use, and this more than anything else suggested the advisability of having a silver currency of our own. I think the intention is to coin silver up to the value of $1, and the Government also intends to grant charters to certain banking houses, empowering them to issue paper currency something on the order of your national bank system, which will greatly simplify business transactions and will be an aid to commerce."

The French in Africa.

By Cable and Associated Press.

PARIS, March 3.—A report has been received by the Government from the Governor of Senegal stating that 800 of the King of Dahomey's troops had attacked the French force under command Terrillon at Atzebo, and that after a severe fight the French refused the natives, killing and wounding 100. It is reported that the Government intends to annex the Kingdom of Dahomey to the French possessions

in Africa, and that a large expedition will be sent to the West Coast. The expedition is said to be under orders to act promptly upon its arrival, in order to avert the putting to death of captives on the occasion of the King's accession to the throne, it being the custom in Dahomey to sacrifice a large number of prisoners and Dahomians at all state and religious ceremonies.

A New England Snowstorm.

By Associated Press.

BOZON, March 3.—A very heavy snowstorm has prevailed in the greater portion of New England since yesterday. At noon the dispatches indicate a practical cessation of the storm at most points, colder weather following.

The snow on a level is from twelve to eighteen inches. The highways are in a bad condition and the trains are somewhat delayed, and for the first time this winter snowplows were a necessity.

BERLIN, March 3.—The returns have been received from all the districts in which second ballots for members were held, with the exception of

26. These returns, together with the returns in those districts where an election occurred on the first ballot, show the election of 106 members of the Centre party, 74 German Liberals and Democrats, 62 Conservatives, 39

National Liberals, 18 Imperialists and 35 Socialists.

When the result of the second ballot was announced at Dortmund the Socialists engaged in a riot, and when the police attempted to disperse them they were stoned. The police then charged the rioters with drawn swords and scattered the crowd. Thirty rioters were arrested.

By Cable and Associated Press.

LONDON, March 3.—Gladstone in the Commons to-day referred to the suspension of Henry Labouchere on Friday for language regarding Lord Salisbury in the discussion of the Cleveland street scandal, and asked that he be allowed to make the following motion:

"That the House deems it necessary to declare that when members prefer charges against a Minister which he denies, such member ought not to be restrained from refusing to accept a denial and from persisting in the charge because the Minister is a member of the House of Lords."

The announcement of the motion was greeted with opposition cheers.

Hon. W. H. Smith, the Government

leader, said he would consider Gladstone's request, and let him know during the evening if he could accept the motion for to-morrow.

Secretary Rusk on the Wool Tax.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—In reply to a question from the Home Market Club of Boston, Secretary Rusk has written a letter in which he says there is nothing in the soil and climate of this country to prevent the production of every class of wool remuneratively and in commercial quantities. The production of carpet wools, he says, has not kept pace with the remarkably rapid growth of the carpet manufactures of the country because that class of wool has been discriminated against in the tariff, with a result of large importations of foreign carpet wools. The law is so framed also as to admit at a carpet wool rate many grades of the finer wool, thus operating against the home production of these classes of wool also.

A Voice From the North.

Referring to a circular letter sent to the editor of the Sussexville Advocate by the Nevada State Board of Trade, inviting the co-operation of the people of Lassen in the movement, that paper contains the following editorial:

We are glad to see that the California State Board of Trade have adopted the sensible plan of transferring jurisdiction of all the section east of the Sierras to the Nevada Board.

We of Lassen really have no more business to be in California than Utah has. We have as little to do in common with the great mass of the State. Laws and regulations which might be of great benefit in the government of the San Joaquin and the Sacramento valleys, the coast counties and the great citrus belt of southern California would not be applicable to our county, but, on the contrary, might work us a great injury. Still, we are in California, and most of us are glad of it, inasmuch as taxes are much lighter, and, for the present at least, the balance is greatly in her favor as a State. But when it comes to trade and matters of organization for mutual good in a business way our interests undoubtedly lie with Nevada, and our duty is to assist any and every movement looking towards the advancement and development of our next-door neighbor.

The Nevada Board of Trade is composed of the very best and ablest men in the State, all working with one impulse, with one object in view, to develop the natural resources of their country. They have men of brains and men of means to carry out the objects of their organization. They have ready access to the attention of capital in the wonderful power of irrigation on their sagebrush plains. The old, fevered life of the mining camp is giving way to the greater and more lasting industries of agriculture, stock raising and manufactures. They have an empire in extent, with a scattered population of 50,000, and the aim of the Board of Trade is to put this vast territory into shape by the introduction of great systems of water storage, and throw it open to the world.

As the Truckee river is by far the greatest source of water supply in the State, it is not only natural that Reno and the surrounding country will be the center of the greatest activity and will be the first to feel the benefit of a new regime, and when Reno booms, Honey Lake Valley must necessarily feel a thrill of new life from end to end. The men of Reno and Nevada invite us to join them in their efforts for our mutual good. They want our citizens to send their names with $5 as an initiation fee to become members of the Board of Trade. They want our counsel and our assistance, our sympathy and our hearty co-operation in every way. There is no room for rivalry. What helps Reno is bound to help us. The hour has arrived for us to act, and the future prospects of our section depend upon prompt and united effort.

The GAZETTE is glad to see that the Advocate takes such a lively interest in the matter, for we believe that great good is coming out of the movement, and what is to our interest is certainly to the interest of the people of Lassen, for they look to us for a market for everything they produce and are a part and parcel of Nevada. The county is rich and its future possibilities are great if developed, and by a hearty co-operation of interest we are bound to help ourselves while assisting the north, which lies contiguous and is almost identical.

THE San Francisco Chronicle's interview with Senators Foley and Torre the other day on the lottery question throws some light upon the subject that has heretofore been in the background. Mr. Foley says he opposed it, but the GAZETTE was under the impression that he did not particularly object to the bill becoming a law, and it takes pleasure in correcting that impression, and we hope to see Senator Foley in the front ranks fighting for the right, should the Louisiana company or any other company attempt to get a franchise in this State.

Senator Torre's reasons for favoring the project are far-fetched. He said taxes were high now, and it would reduce the rate and keep the money at home, which is as fallacious as it is foolish. But Senator Torre's ideas are narrow and the foundation of them were laid in the "old country," and are not worthy of serious consideration. He has a vote, to be sure, and it will count one in favor of a lottery should the matter come before the next Legislature, and it will be the duty of the citizens of every county in the State to see to it that no man can gain a Senator's seat without pledging himself against lotteries in any form, in order to offset the vote of the honorable gentleman from Eureka.

Prince Waldemar of Denmark is testing a new submarine boat built after the idea of Jules Verne's famous craft. It is like a fish in form, and can go below the submerged chains in harbors, can run around buoys and can cut cables and wires with the shears at its keel.

THE GAZETTE hopes to see the next Republican Convention adopt a plank in opposition to lotteries, thereby putting themselves on record as lovers of good government, for these are equally times.

PEOPLE OF TACT.

To Most Women This Valuable Possession Is Inborn.

Anecdotes of Men and Women Who in Trying Situations Have Exercised Tact, Much to the Peace of Mind of All Concerned.

To be able to say the right thing at the right moment is a great art, and said only to be acquired by those who have a natural talent that way. When a careless talker, who was criticizing a young lady's father severely, paused a moment to say, "I hope he is no relation of yours, Miss B—?" quick as thought she replied, with the utmost nonchalance: "Only a connection of mother's by marriage."

Few could hope to show such clever readiness of speech in a dilemma of the kind, says Chambers' Journal. Yet in a more curious and amusing way this was almost matched by a cautious old woman, who, when asked what she thought of one of her neighbors of the name of Jones, with a knowing look replied: "Why, I don't like to say anything about my neighbors; but as to Mr. Jones, sometimes I think, and then again I don't know; but, after all, I rather guess he'll turn out to be a good deal such a sort of man as I take him to be."

In a little episode of village life we had lately another interesting instance of feminine tact. Upon the conclusion of a marriage in a village church the bridegroom signed his register with his X mark. The pretty young bride did the same; and then turning to a young lady who had known her as the best scholar in the school, whispered to her, while love and admiration shone in her eyes: "He is a dear fellow, miss, but he can not write. He is going to learn from me, and I would not shame him for the world."

But it is not always so apparent that in the affairs of life women are more adroit, or show more discernment or better perception than men. Who has not noticed how often mothers and nurses, by continually uttering vague threats, which their little charges soon learn are never fulfilled, lose all authority—while one word from paternal families acts like magic in restoring order and obedience amongst the young rebels? It is undeniable that concerning the love affairs of others women usually show much more perspicacity than men, and know how to act accordingly; yet often in their own cases the tact evinced by them in skillfully managing a lover would seem to be lost when that lover becomes a husband.

"Tact," we are told, "often thwarts strength," and certainly may be made a wonderful instrument of conciliation and pacification. To be able readily and without premeditation to do or say the right thing is an enviable gift, one that has not unfrequently brought substantial rewards to its possessor. To ask a favor gracefully, or to compose a well-worded or delicately expressed missive in matters of diplomacy, would probably tax the mental resources of most of us.

To many men the art of at least putting things in a kind and complimentary way is not uncommon—an art that was well cultivated by the courtiers of days gone by. The painter who drew the terrible one-eyed Tamerlane in the attitude of a warrior taking aim with his bow, and consequently having one eye closed, is an illustration in point. Nor was the Spanish nobleman who sent Queen Elizabeth a looking-glass when asked by her Majesty for the portrait of the lady who possessed so accomplished a cavalier's heart a whit behind Raleigh himself in readiness and delicacy of tact.

A gentleman was heard to remark at a fashionable French gathering: "At that time, Marchioness, I was in love;" then suddenly interrupting himself: "But no doubt you are astonished that any one should fall in love before knowing you!" This, we admit, was rather an instance of excessive gallantry than of readiness such as was displayed by another Frenchman in the following: An old nobleman was lately accosted by an elderly lady with white hair at a party given by a Baroness: "Don't you recognize me, Monsieur d'Aureville?" The man was silent. "It is many years," she continued, "since we met; I think in 1848." "Ah, madame," exclaimed the nobleman, "I have greatly changed since that time!" Could any one but a Frenchman have shaped such an answer?

It must have been a countryman of his who said: "If you wish to pay a pretty compliment to a plain and ignorant woman, and at the same time do not wish to be guilty of a falsehood, tell her that she is as beautiful as she is accomplished. She will think you are a charming man, and your conscience will be guiltless of an untruth." Such an adviser must be one of the very diplomatists of society.

In conversation, true courtesy is often forgotten in the general anxiety of people to speak rather than to listen; they may seem to be attentive, but the absent look in the eyes betrays the reverse. Good listeners, especially if youthful, are thought of by glib old people. We should not reply to a recital of the troubles of others by a long list of grievances of our own; nor when shown any thing in which the owner takes pride spoil the effect by ungraciously referring to something superior in the same line which one has seen or may possibly possess. A constant endeavor to be easily pleased is essential to politeness.

The habit of thought before speech is not easy to acquire; and in conclusion we may add that tact, though partly a natural gift, is a good deal indebted to education and early habits.

The Alligator's Chief Weapon.
The chief weapon of offense and defense with an alligator is the caudal appendage, and as it has to bend itself into almost a half circle to deliver an effective blow, the person who keeps his wits about him may readily avoid it unless he is taken by surprise. A fair blow from the tail of an adult will easily break a man's leg or arm, and I have known it to knock a large hog a distance of several feet. An alligator will always first try to strike its prey with the tail, on land, but in the water it will seize it round the body and sink immediately to the bottom.—Ounting.

JOTTINGS.

C. J. Brooks is carrying the finest stock of laundry, toilet and shaving soap ever offered in this market.

Miss Emma Gibbs has a fine assortment of bird's wings, tips and fancy feathers, also ivories in all shades.

J. N. Wallace's stock of the best family groceries is as complete and well selected as are to be found in any store in town.

The Riverside Hotel is the place to go for a nice sunny room, a good bed and the best meal you ever sat down to in the town.

A fresh lot and a fine lot of candies at Leadbetter's; there are no injurious ingredients in these candies. Fresh nuts also on hand.

C. A. Thurston's news depot is where you can always find all the leading monthly and quarterly magazines and the San Francisco daily papers.

J. J. Becker's Chicago saloon is where you can find a daily hot lunch, served in a regular restaurant style, which with a big glass of beer costs only 12½ cents.

George Becker's Granite Saloon is where you will never fail to find a comfortable fire, the daily papers and polite and attentive bar-keepers and a hot soup lunch.

O. Lemery of the Arado Hotel and Restaurant continues to sustain the well earned reputation of that popular house, and no one is ever heard to complain of either fare or prices.

Died in Her Chair.
Yesterday morning Miss Josefa Julia, residing at No. 75 South D street, was found by Robert Clemens, a miner, sitting in a chair at a breakfast table, but dead.

The Chronicle says deceased has been an invalid for 15 years.

Her neighbors state that they last saw her alive the evening before, when she appeared in her usual health. She was a native of Columbia, South America aged about 37 years.

Put on the Brakes.
If you find you are going down the hill in point of health. Failing strength, impaired digestion and assimilation are the marks of decline. Check these and other indications of premature decay with the grand vitalizer and restraining tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Beginning at the fountain head, the stomach, the Bitters remedies its inefficiency, corrects its errors, and sets it vigorously at work. The digestive organ is thus enabled to thoroughly separate from the food its nutritive principles, which the blood assimilating, is enriched. Thus is the system nourished and being nourished, strengthened and abnormal waste tissues stayed. Appetite, the power to rest well and regular habit are also re-established, and the various functions move once more in their natural and healthful groove. The Bitters, moreover, is a specific for and preventive of neuralgia, rheumatism, biliousness and kidney trouble.

Change of Business.
Having this day purchased the jewelry business of L. Fredrick, I shall continue to carry on the same at the old established place. My personal attention will be paid to the business in all its branches, especially in the repairing of fine watches, jewelry etc. Hoping for the continuance of the liberal patronage bestowed upon the old firm, I am respectfully,
HYMAN FREDRICK.
Reno, March 1, 1890.

Notice to Debtors.
Notice is hereby given to all those indebted to the old firm of L. Fredrick, having this day sold the business, all outstanding accounts must be settled at once and so avoid the necessity of placing them in the hands of a collector.
L. FREDRICK.

The Pulpit and the Stage.
Rev. F. M. Shout, pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kansas, says: "I feel it my duty to tell you that Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 25 pounds in weight."

Arthur Love, manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption beats 'em all and cures what everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousands of friends is to use them to try it. Free trial bottles at W. Pinner's drug store. Regular sizes 50c and $1."

Epoch.
The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are rubbed with any disease of the Kidneys or Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by the use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle at W. Pinner's drug store.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and it cures itching humors. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25c per box. For sale by Wm. Pinner.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Widdow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, cures the gums, swells all pains, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

"A SOCIAL SESSION."

The Comedy at McKissick's Opera House Next Saturday.

The Buffalo Express says: The Postage Stamp Comedy Company appeared at the Opera House last evening in their new farce-comedy, "A Social Session," and both the play and the players made an instantaneous hit. Very few of the large audience present guessed that it was a "first night," as the piece had been very carefully rehearsed and not a "break" occurred to mar the smoothness of an excellent performance. Unlike most of the so-called farce-comedies, "A Social Session" has a well defined, though not complicated, plot, the dramatic interest being sustained throughout. The characters are all well drawn, and the situations novel, as was attested by the almost continuous shouts of laughter and applause that greeted the players and inspired them to further efforts. The numerous songs and specialties introduced were of a high order of merit. The burlesque opera in the third act was exceedingly ludicrous, and also afforded the excellent vocalists of the company an opportunity to display their ability. We have not space to give a synopsis of the piece, nor is it necessary. It can all be summed up in one word—fun.

DO YOU CATCH ON?

What's the Matter With a Chicken Ranch.

There is a demand right here in Susanville for chickens to-day, says the Advocate, and a well managed chicken ranch would be a good investment. We have been without chickens and we might say without eggs all winter.

Such a state of affairs right in the midst of a farming community, is to say the least, peculiar. A few acres of wheat would give feed for thousands of chickens during the winter, and with good warm chicken houses and yards exposed to the sun on the slope of some of the foothills where the fowls could have clean, dry picking and plenty of shelter, there is no reason why hens would not lay all through the cold season. Men have made fortunes in the chicken business in other places and certainly there ought to be a good living in it here.

The above applies with equal force to this section. If the farmers would devote more time to the little things they would catch many a dollar that now finds its way to other markets.

MAKING A HOME.

What Industry and Intelligence Can Accomplish.

The Inyo Independent says: Five years ago Alexander McNett settled on a piece of desert land on the west side of Fish Lake Valley, Nevada. Everybody else thought the place was quite worthless. During the present season Mr. McNett sold fifteen hundred dollars worth of hay from the place. He has a young orchard bearing fruit of various kinds and of fine quality. It is a good property and increasing in value each year. Throughout Nevada are places where industrious men could locate and make homes as Mr. McNett has done. This beats tramping wearily over mountains and deserts searching for mines with a pack on the back and very little to eat. The location of Mr. McNett commands a fine cattle range; he has already a nice band of cattle and many of these fed on the range during the past winter without the help of any hay and they now look well.

PERSONAL.

Powel Fredrick will go below this evening.

John Bradley returned last evening from Elko county.

University Regent George left for home this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cobb were down from Verdi to-day.

N. H. A. Mason arrived from California on yesterday's overland express.

Ex-Governor Adams was in town yesterday on his way to the State Capital.

The wife and two sons of President Jones of the State University arrived this morning from the East.

M. Levy, a brother of W. Levy of the Palace Dry Goods and Carpet House, is up from San Francisco.

M. S. Bonfield, the Winnemucca attorney, arrived here Saturday night and left yesterday for San Francisco.

Mrs. Philip Russak and daughter Fanny, who for the past five months have been visiting relatives in New York, will return this evening.

A Prosperous Fruit-Grower.
Ross Lewers of Washoe valley does not live in a citrus belt, but he raises lots of fruit just the same. He has three acres in raspberries and twenty-five acres in orchard, and grows about 4,000 boxes annually, besides the smaller fruits. He has a fine little ranch and hardly ever makes a failure.

Beef Cattle.
There are about 7,500 head of beef cattle in this State now to go to the San Francisco market, divided as follows: On the Meadows, 3,000; Carson valley, 500; Mason valley, 1,000; Kirman & Ricker, 1,500; at the Sink of Carson, 1,200; at Wadsworth, awaiting shipment, 240. Total, 7,440.

Heavily Taxed.
For the year 1890 property in Virginia City has been taxed as follows: County, $150; State, $150; School, $150; Total, $450.

The Postoffice.
Nashy is moving his stock into the Bank annex building, and will locate the Postoffice there, too. It is just around the corner from the Thompson building, where it is now located. He will take possession as soon as his commission arrives.

A Hint Change.
Z. F. ("Doc") Alley has been notified that his services will no longer be required in the Refinery Department of the Carson Mint. G. W. Likens succeeds him, and C. J. Rulison of Dayton succeeds Likens as helper.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.
It looks like rain.
Stock cars are scarce.
The streets are in bad condition.
Read the 50-cent ad. of a house to let.

Bob Parry is the busiest man in town.
March promises to be a very rough month.
The sheep men of Eastern Nevada have lost heavily.
Four weeks more of rough weather will be hard on range cattle.
The new electric light works have their smoke-stack in place.
Read the 50-cent ad. of a chance to work for board and room-rent.
The Electric Light Company have put in an engine and to-day they raised the smokestack.

Hastings & Rigoloth's orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for the Verdi masquerade.
"When are we to have settled weather?" is a question that stockmen are interested in just at present.
One hundred and forty head of beef cattle were shipped from Reno yesterday to Horn & Chapman, San Francisco.

Beef cattle on the meadows will soon all be shipped away. They are going now as fast as cars can be procured for their transportation.
The GAZETTE acknowledges the receipt of a complimentary ticket to a ball to be given by the Verdi and Essex mill boys on the 7th.

G. L. Langton & Bro. have bought out Linderman's express, and are prepared to do all kinds of hauling. See their ad. in 50-cent column.

The second trial of W. T. C. Elliott's murder case, which has been moved from Inyo county, Cal., to Bakersfield, will be commenced on the 25th of April.

A CALIFORNIA ADVERTISEMENT.
The Carson "Appeal" Hits the Nail on the Head.
The Carson Appeal says: In today's issue is an advertisement of Weinstein & Lubin, dry goods dealers of Sacramento. It would look much better to see the space filled by Carson dry goods dealers. The space is always at their disposal when they choose to take it.
California dealers in these goods make a practice of scanning the Nevada papers very closely, and when they see a vacancy in their line in the advertising columns of a local paper, they jump in and fill it. The Appeal would have been very glad to have met Weinstein & Lubin's request for advertising space in this paper with the information that the space was all taken by local merchants, but in this instance it was impossible to do so.

Taxes for 1890.
The Commissioners fixed the tax levy for State and county purposes this morning, as follows, on each $100 valuation:
State tax, .30
County tax, .05
Confident fund, county, .05
Indigent fund, county, .05
Bridges bonds, .05
General Road Fund, county, .10
General School Fund, county, .40
Agricultural bonds, county, .05
Total, $1.00

RENO SCHOOL DISTRICT.
Reno School House Redemption Fund, $100
Reno, $100
University bonds, $100
Total, $300

The county tax, outside of Reno School District, is $1.95, and within the town limits $2.70.

School for Girls.
The following is the report for the month ending February 25, 1890, of the School for Girls, J. Megguier, Principal:
Academic Department—Mary Lucas, 98.4; Ruth Russell, 97.6; O. Johnson, 97.5; Maggie Mayberry, 97.3; Louisa Lucas, 97.3.
Roll of Merit—Iva Rowland, 97; Nellie Ashby, 96; Ivy Evans, 95.
Music Department—L. Rowland, O. Johnson, Mande Wells, Nellie Ashby, Mamie Rule, Helen Durant, Freda Lord.

The Bannocks.
Johnson Sides blew into the GAZETTE office this morning to exhibit three Bannock braves from Idaho. They were bespangled with beads in endless profusion, and dandled with yellow and red paint to an extent that they resembled a New York society belle. The "jewelry" was something startling, but they are fine specimens of manhood.

San Francisco Meat Market.
Following are the rates for whole carcasses from slaughterers to dealers:
BEEF—First quality, 66¢; second quality, 64¢; third quality, 62¢.
VEAL—Quotable at 48¢ for large and 50¢ for small.
MUTTON—Quotable at 64¢ for 1 lb. do, Spring, 1890; 13¢ for 1 lb. do, Fall, 1890.
PORK—Live hogs, on foot, grain fed, heavy, 55¢; light, 60¢; dressed hogs, 58¢ for 1 lb.

Attention, A. O. U. W.
The members will please take notice that Washington Lodge No. 25 meets in their new hall, Thompson's building, Wednesday evenings hereafter. A cordial invitation is extended to all brothers of the order to visit us.
B. C. SHEARER, M. W.
A. L. LEM, Recorder.

Serious Accident.
Last evening Ira Walker, contractor for the Baptist Church, was leading a horse to water, and the animal wheeled and kicked him on the right arm, breaking the ulna bone, which protruded through the flesh, making a severe compound fracture. Dr. Dawson attended the injured man.

Hotel Burned.
Last Thursday night E. Clement's ("Yank's") hotel, situated at the south end of Lake Tahoe, near the Tallac House, was burned to the ground. The wind was blowing a gale, which rendered it impossible for the old couple to subdue the flames.

The Next Meeting.
The regular meeting of the State Board of Trade will be held on Saturday next. All members of the Board should try and be present.

NEVADA AND THE LOTTERY.

A Black Picture Painted by the San Francisco "News Letter."
The San Francisco News Letter contains the following slanderous attack upon Nevada: The Louisiana Lottery Company is said to have designs upon Nevada. There is no reason why it should not have. Nevada comes rather high in Senatorial elections, but there is no State in the Union that could be obtained more reasonably for a lottery. There are only about five papers that would need to be retained. A lease of the Holstein ranch at $50 a month would probably fetch Sam Davis, and a two-column apiece would secure the grateful allegiance of the rest. The recent popular vote showed a majority of 700 or 800 votes for the lottery. A change of 500 votes would make a good, safe majority the other way. Five hundred votes at $100 apiece would cost $50,000. A majority of the Legislature of course, would take more. Twelve Senators, at $25,000 apiece, would be $300,000, and twenty-four Representatives, at $5,000, would be another $120,000. Half a million in all would cover everything, with an ample margin to spare. What is half a million to the Louisiana Lottery Company?

In fact, even that would not have to be paid entirely in cash. A distribution of lottery tickets would be almost as effective. If the whole State were papered with certificates of stock in the first monthly drawing, there would be a wave of public sentiment in favor of the franchise that would sweep over the State. The Louisiana Lottery Company would be a very rich man.

How much is bid?

RENO FIRST.

The Woman's Relief Corps Correct an Error.
Reno, Nev., March 3, 1890.
Seeing an article in your excellent paper of February 22d concerning the fact that Carsonites had awakened to the idea of presenting a flag to the public school in that city, stating in the same article that Virginia City and San Francisco had done so, we will now say that General O. M. Mitchell, W. R. C., No. 27 of Reno presented the Nevada State University with a flag something like eighteen months ago, and the public school of Reno received one from the same source last October, so long ago that perhaps Carson people had forgotten it, although it was published in the GAZETTE at the same time. The W. R. C. in Reno comprises a few loyal-hearted women. One of our duties is to promote peace and love of country. With this in view we gave the flag. By order W. R. C.

A Strong Partnership.
Henry Morris has associated himself with Charley Coleman in the Wine House Barber Shop. This makes a good team, for they are both first-class artists and understand every branch of the business. They will shortly run three chairs and you won't have to wait for your hair to be cut. Give them a call and get a shave such as you never had before.

Go to the Ball.
Through the kindness of Mr. Whited all parties wishing to attend the ball at Verdi, Friday, March 7th, will be allowed to ride on train No. 3, leaving Reno at about 9 o'clock P. M.

DANGEROUS PURGATIVES.
A City Policeman's Very Peculiar Experience.
Mineral pills and drastic purgatives irritate the mucous coatings of the stomach and bowels. In fact their cathartic action is due to their irritation. The danger attending their steady use is apparent. The new laxative principle in Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla gets its cathartic action by increasing the mucous secretions and gently stimulating the stomach. It is purely vegetable, does not lose its effect, and is safe to be taken occasionally or continuously. G. A. Videau, the well known police officer of 1825 Howard St., San Francisco, writes: "After my own experience I firmly believe that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla will cure the most obstinate cases of constipation. Although cured I am still taking it and never had my system so thoroughly regulated. By increasing and diminishing the dose one has absolute command over himself with this valuable remedy."

Evans' Patent Anti-Rusting Tinware.

This is the only material which meets the requirements for Water Falls, Toilet Ware or articles for similar uses. This ware is made of the best Melby Tin, having a strong rim to stand upon and a patent galvanized bottom which protects the ware from rusting. The circulation of electricity through the water tends to purify it, to destroy microscopical, animal and vegetable life and to keep the water sweet and wholesome. Every article bears a label, which gives to each purchaser an absolute guarantee against rust. This ware long ago ceased to be an experiment; eight years of severe test in all climates has proven that it is positively anti-rusting. Articles in use six years are as good as new.

Publication of Summons.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to D. S. Hickman, greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Nona S. Hickman as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover against you a judgment and decree of divorce on the complaint of the plaintiff in which complaint she alleges that you and she were united in marriage at Reno, in the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, January 27, 1888; that you and plaintiff have not lived cohabitated as husband and wife since August 30, 1888; that you have not at any time since said marriage contributed to her support; that you want to be free from said marriage, and have not since August 30th recognized her as your wife; that she charges against you abandonment and failure to support her and failure to provide for her the common necessities of life for more than one year preceding her complaint made and filed, which failure to support and provide for her is not a result of poverty that could not have been avoided by you by ordinary industry. She claims against you the custody of your minor child, on the ground that you are incompetent to care for him or to have dominion over him, all of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in this office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred.

and you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded and for costs of suit. In testimony whereof, I, William Webster, have hereunto set my hand this 21st day of January A. D. 1890.

WILLIAM WEBSTER,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

United States Land Office.

SACRAMENTO CITY, CAL.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT IN compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled an act for the sale of timber lands in the State of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory, Robert L. Fulton, of Reno, county of Washoe, State of Nevada, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. 1070, for the purchase of the 5 1/2 of NW 1/4 and NW 1/4 of SW 1/4 of Section 24, T. 12 N., R. 10 E., M. D. M., and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before the Register and Receiver of this office, at Sacramento, Cal., on Tuesday, the first day of April, 1890.

He names as witnesses: P. Foulkes of Verdi P. O., Nevada; T. K. Stewart of Reno P. O., Nevada; James Mayberry of Reno P. O., Nevada; F. L. Gould of Reno P. O., Nevada. Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are requested to file their claim in this office on or before the first day of April, 1890.

SELDEN HETZEL, Register.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe.

In the matter of the estate of Edward Dalton, deceased.

It appearing to me from the petition of Mary Jane Dalton, administratrix of the estate of Edward Dalton, deceased, that it is necessary to sell the real estate in said petition described, for the purpose of paying debts and charges of administration against said estate, it is hereby ordered by the Court that said petition be filed, and all persons interested in said estate are directed to be and appear before said Court in the Courtroom at Reno, in the county of Washoe, on Saturday, the 29th day of March, A. D. 1890, at the hour of ten o'clock, in the forenoon of said day, then and there to show such cause as they may have against granting the order of sale prayed for in said petition, directing a sale of the real property therein described.

Dated this 27th day of February, 1890.

A NUMERICAL NOMAD.

Maine's Human Algebra and Arithmetic Wonder.

A Queer Genius Who for Many Years Has Lived on a Steady Diet of Figures—His Remarkable Inroads on the Science of Mathematics.

Figures, figures, figures. Such, writes a Biddeford (Me.) correspondent of the New York Herald, has been the steady diet of one man in Maine, year in and year out, for the past quarter of a century. He is "Prof." George S. McIntire, and no one is better known to the citizens of Southwestern Maine than this oft-encountered person, with his little tin tail and his awful of books. Almost any day, be the weather what it may, he may be seen sauntering leisurely along the main thoroughfares or crouched in some hallway upon a doorstep absorbed in the one great work of his life, mathematics. He is not exactly an intellectual tramp, but, perhaps, more strictly, a numerical nomad. His is a life wrapped up in figures—those dry, abstract things, so cold, palpable and undeniable. Only when delving in them is his cup of happiness filled to the brim.

"Prof." George S. McIntire was born in the little settlement of North Kennebunkport, Me., on January 31, 1826. He sprang from good, hardy, Anglo-Saxon stock, and had he not inherited a constitution of iron he would never have been able to withstand the ordeal through which he has passed; for in his aimless rambles he has undergone enough exposures and privations to knock the underpinning out of a dozen human frames. When quite young McIntire was put at work upon the farm, and at the age of sixteen was sent to the village school. The curriculum of the school, which was kept open only during six weeks in winter, did not soar higher than the rudimentary elements of mental arithmetic, and the teacher was Moses Wilson, long since passed to the other shore.

Pedagogue Wilson determined to become a physician, and on the last day of his administration as teacher presented young McIntire with an old leather-covered algebra. The presentation of the old algebra, yellow with age, yet glowing with truths, marked the turning point in McIntire's life. It became the key to all the man's future idiosyncrasies. Never before had George seen a book called an algebra, and when he took it home he found his parents in equal ignorance. It was beyond them.

Nevertheless, young McIntire was soon knee deep among the x's, y's and z's. It seemed strange to him that any thing tangible could be resolved out of those fragmentary characters, but the more he thought of it the more it interested him, and ere long he became deeply infatuated with the study. His parents tried to dissuade him from his task, but, unimpressed by their suggestions, he absorbed chapter after chapter of the wonderful book, and neglected farm work as often as he could steal away into the more sequestered nooks of the forest.

McIntire remained on the farm, doing little else than figuring, until he was well along in years. Once he ran away from home and secured a job in a mill in Saco, but he did not earn much, and soon gave up the undertaking in order to accept a job at painting in a big machine shop in Biddeford. The paint had an ill-effect upon his system, and he wandered up to Buxton, where he pushed the shovel and hoe for one Benjamin Grant. After a month of this drudgery—for any thing was drudgery outside of mathematics for him—he returned to the old homestead, where he remained a series of years until his parents died. Then he removed to Biddeford, some time in the early "sixties."

Soon after McIntire came to Biddeford he went to New York and took steamer passage by the Nicaragua route to San Francisco. On the passage out he fell in with a French General who happened to be on board, and was a college graduate. The man of Mars expressed much surprise at George's remarkable inroads upon the science of mathematics, and on one occasion during a protracted discussion of the subject, many of the ship's passengers and crew gathered about the pair with mingled feelings of pity and awe.

While in San Francisco McIntire sawed wood and did other odd jobs, but he found it difficult to obtain a livelihood. Nevertheless, on every pleasant Sabbath he went to the Lone Mountain burial-ground to decipher the characters on the grave-stones there, and by way of diversion, to rehearse his mathematical studies. McIntire returned from California by way of the isthmus in 1866.

"Professor" was the title he now went by in Maine. So thoroughly absorbed had he become in the one study of his life that it had taken on a form of monomania. And to-day, outside the realm of figures, all the world is a blank to him. He declares that he likes the study well enough to go without his natural food, and this he has frequently done. He has seldom eaten a warm meal or slept in a bed during many years past. Much of the time he has slept in barns, sometimes in old carts and not infrequently he has remained out of doors all night. At the present time he is occupying a small room over a store in this city, but nothing in the shape of a bedstead adorns the room; the occupant securing repose upon an old blanket thrown upon the floor. For years McIntire has subsisted upon milk, bread and fruit, which he purchases or begs in small quantities at a time, going into a doorway or a lively stable to enjoy the frugal meal.

PESTERING OLD HICKORY.

How a Faithful Partisan Earned an Old Black Coat.

One morning, scarcely a fortnight after General Jackson's arrival at the White House, a shabby-genteel-looking man presented himself at his parlor, and, after the usual salutation and shaking of hands, expressed his joy at seeing the venerable old gentleman at last hold the situation of Chief Magistrate of the country, to which his bravery, his talents and his unimpeachable rectitude fully entitled him.

"We have had a hard time of it," said he, "in our little place; but our exertions were unremitting; I myself went round to stimulate my neighbors, and at last the victory was ours. We beat them by a majority of ten votes; and I now behold the result of that glorious triumph!"

The General thanked him in terms of studied politeness, assuring him that he would resign his office in an instant if he did not think his election gave satisfaction to a vast majority of the people; and at last regretted his admirer's zeal for the public weal should have been so severely taxed on his account.

"Oh, no matter for that, sir," said he; "I did it with pleasure—I did it for myself and for my country" (the General bowed); "and I now come to congratulate you on your success" (the General bowed again).

"I thought, sir, that, as you are now President of the United States, I might, perhaps, be useful to you in some official capacity." (The General looked somewhat embarrassed.)

"Pray, sir, have you already made a choice of your Cabinet Ministers?"

"I have," was the reply of the General.

"Well, no matter for that; I shall be satisfied with an embassy to Europe."

"I am sorry to say there is no vacancy."

"Then you will, perhaps, require a head clerk in a department of State?"

"These are generally appointed by the respective Secretaries."

"I am very sorry for that; then I must be satisfied with some inferior appointment."

"I never interfere with these; you must address yourself to the heads of departments."

"But could I not be postmaster in Washington? Only think, General, how I worked for you!"

"I am much obliged to you for the good opinion you entertain of me, and for your kind offices at the last election; but the postmaster for the city of Washington is already appointed."

"Well, I don't much care for that; I should be satisfied with being his clerk."

"This is a subject you must mention to the postmaster."

"Why, then, General," exclaimed the disappointed candidate for office, "haven't you got an old black coat?"

You may well imagine that the General gave him one.

THISTLE POMPONS.

How to Make These Charming Additions to a Bouquet.

An exchange thus tells how to make beautiful pompoms for home decoration: Select a large, half-blown daisy and cut off all the green part at the base of the blossom, just above the stem. Hang the thistle in the open air, exposed to the sun and wind, and, in the course of a day or two, the inside downy part will expand into a full, rounded pompon, or puff ball. Then pull out the purple petals which had developed into bloom when you had selected the half-open thistle. Hang up the pompon again in an airy place, and in the course of a week it will have bleached a cream-white. These pompoms are as feathery and delicately pretty as swan's-down.

They are a great addition to a bouquet or a basket of grasses.

Milk-weed pompoms are not quite as easily made but are more silky and nearer pure white than the thistles. When the milk-weed pods are ripe, make a collection of them, and they can be kept half a year or more before the pompoms are made, if so desired, or the puff balls can be made at once, as follows: Have some very fine wire, such as is used for bead-work, and cut it into pieces four inches long. Dip the end in water, and then open it. It will be found filled with many bundles of web-like white fibers. Pull off several of these and wrap the wire around the ends which were attached to the center stem. Brush off the black seeds adhering to the other ends. Wire a number of the bundles, as just described, then with another piece of wire, to wind round and round, put them together as you would a bouquet of flowers, thus making a rounded pompon. City florists have these colored a delicate pink, and they are beautiful.

A JOLLY SEA-DOG.

How an Intelligent Brute Attends to His Duties on Ship-Board.

There is a sheep dog on board the steamer Horrox, which plies between Rio de Janeiro, New York and Liverpool, that regularly takes his station on deck at the third watch, and can be relied upon as thoroughly as the oldest seaman on board. His name is "Nick," says the New York Star, and whenever a sail is sighted nothing can stop him until he reports it to the officer on the bridge. He frequently sights a vessel before the look-out, and understands what it is to be the first to report. If he hears the look-out sing out, he understands perfectly what is said, and will obey any order the men give him. He is very valuable as a barometer. There is no change in the weather which is not foretold by Nick. He only enters the captain's cabin on important business, either to announce a sail in sight or predict a change of weather, which he does in a most remarkable way. When he wants to inform the captain that a sail is in sight he runs in and barks vigorously several times and then walks out. When he becomes a weather prophet he stands on his hind legs and paws at the barometer, and, according to Captain Henning and his crew, Nick is usually several hours ahead of the instrument. The steamer was at Rio when the revolution broke out, and remained there several days. The dog usually accompanies the captain on shore when he goes, but on the morning of the revolution, when the troops paraded the streets, was very anxious to know what was going on, and jumped overboard and swam ashore to satisfy his curiosity. When Captain Henning came ashore he was met on the wharf by Nick, who barked furiously and tugged at his pantaloons to go back to the ship. The captain said he instantly knew something had happened, and his fears were verified when he reached the office of the company. Nick is about six years old and has a shaggy black-and-tan coat, with the softest and most intelligent eyes ever set in the head of an animal.

"There," said the new lady of the castle, "are the graves of the former owner's ancestors. My ancestors," she added, proudly, "are all living."—Harper's Magazine.

AN EX-SLAVE OWNER.

He Saw That "De Ole Man" Was Buried Beside His Children.

At the dinner station, where we stopped one day on a certain Tennessee railroad almost the first sight which greeted the eye of those who got off was a rough burial box on the platform, and seated near it was an old black woman with a handkerchief to her eyes, and the Indianapolis Sentinel. When kindly asked the cause of her sorrow she pointed to the box and replied:

"De ole man's in dar."

"Your husband?"

"Yes; died two days ago back yere in de kentry."

"And what are you doing with the body here?"

"I wants to bury it up at Charlestown, but I hain't got money 'nuff to take it on de railroad."

"What nonsense!" exclaimed a man, as he came forward. "What's the difference where a nigger is buried? They want her to bury it here, but she won't. She's determined to take it to Charlestown."

"For what reason?" asked the passenger who had put all the previous questions.

"Kase, sah, all de fo' chill'en is buried up dar, and his mudder and sister, an' de poo' ole man will be lonesome down yere."

"What bosh!" growled the kicker.

"Look here!" whispered the other, as he went over to him. "I'd rather be nigger with her soul than to be a white man with yours! She's right. Let the family dead sleep together."

He entered the express office, paid for the shipment of the body, bought the widow a ticket for Charlestown and then dropped a $10 gold piece in her hand and said:

"Give him a decent funeral, mammy, and this will put up a headboard to mark the grave."

"May de Lawd bless you for—"

But he hurried in to snatch a bite to eat. When he was gone I made inquiries as to his identity, and finally found a man who replied:

"Why, that's Colonel Blank, of Alabama. He owned over three hundred niggers when the war broke out."

DECIDEDLY AWKWARD.

The Archbishop Himself Didn't Know the Lessons for the Day.

In a volume of reminiscences recently published the writer, an English clergyman, narrates an amusing dialogue between himself and Dr. Tait, then Bishop of London and afterward Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom he had applied for holy orders. He was charmed with the Bishop, he says, so grave, kindly and courteous; but neither the young candidate's reverence for the office nor his respect for the man restrained him from asking one embarrassing question.

The Bishop gave me a private examination, as was his wont in all such cases.

"I propose," he said, "to have a little talk with you about the lessons for to-day."

I bowed and waited for the talk to begin.

"What are the lessons for to-day?" said the Bishop.

I felt nonplussed, but thought best to be quite candid.

"I don't know what they are, my Lord. In point of fact, I never read the lessons for the day."

"You never read the lessons for the day?" exclaimed the Bishop, in a rather horrified manner. "What do you read, then?"

"I find it more convenient, my Lord, instead of following the selection of the lessons, to take up some book of the Bible and work through it."

The Bishop looked relieved. "And a very good plan, too," said he. "However, on the present occasion I rather wish to speak about the lessons. What are they?"

"Will you allow me to remind you that I have just said that I did not know them?" and then, retorting the question upon himself, I said: "What are they, my Lord?"

The good Bishop broke into a gentle laugh. "Why, really, my friend, you have the advantage of me. I don't know them myself."

MADE TO LOOK NEW.

A Simple and Effective Method of Renovating Old Garments.

Old clothing may be made to look nearly as good as new by pursuing the following plan, says the Philadelphia Record:

Take, for instance, a shiny old coat, vest or pair of trousers of broadcloth, cassimere or diagonal. The scourer makes a strong, warm soap-sud and plunges the garment into it, soaks it up and down, rubs the dirty places; if necessary puts it through a second sud, then rinses it through several waters and hangs it to dry on the line.

When nearly dry he takes it in, rolls it up for an hour or two, and then presses it. An old cotton cloth is laid on the outside of the coat and the iron passed over that until the wrinkles are out; but the iron is removed before the steam ceases to rise from the goods, else they would be shiny. Wrinkles that are obstinate are removed by laying a wet cloth over them and passing the iron over that.

If any shiny places are seen they are treated as the wrinkles are; the iron is lifted, while the full cloud of steam rises and brings the nap up with it. Good cloth will bear many washings and look better every time because of them.

A Confusion of Washingtons.

Be careful how you address your letters to Washington. Washington is a State. Washington is a city in the District of Columbia. Washington is the name of nearly forty towns in different States, and besides all these there are a Washington Bar, a Washington Borough, a Washington Court-House, a Washington Center, a Washington College, a Washington Depot, a Washington Gulch, a Washington Harbor, a Washington Heights, a Washington Hollow, a Washington Mills, a Washington Prairie, and a Washingtonville—all post-offices.

Philosophy of Success.

Never kick a man when he is down. It's a waste of energy. Go for the man who is climbing above you.

CORRUPTING.

or overeating or the partaking of too rich and indigestible food, is a common cause of discomfort and suffering. To immediately relieve the stomach and bowels from such overloading, a full dose of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets is the best remedy. They operate gently, yet thoroughly and without griping, nausea, or other unpleasant effects.

If the too free indulgence in such intemperate eating has deranged digestion, causing dyspepsia and biliousness, attended with a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in mouth in the morning, on arising, drowsiness after meals, indigestible feeling of dread, or of impending calamity and hypochondria, then you need to follow up the use of the "Pellets" with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, to tone up the stomach, invigorate the bowels and set all the processes of digestion at work. While curing indigestion, it purifies the blood, cleanses the system from all humors and blood-poisons—no matter of what name or nature, or from what cause arising. There is nothing similar to it in composition or approaching it in results. Therefore, don't be duped and induced to take some substitute, said to be "just as good," that the dealer may make a larger profit.
